

ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHT

RWCT INTERNATIONAL CONSORTIUM

It is the policy of the RWCT International Consortium to copyright all its professional publications to protect both its authors' and its own rights and interests in the material. Through assignment of copyright, authors grant the Consortium the authority to administer and oversee all uses of their work, including initial publication, reprinting, photocopying, translation, microfilm and microfiche storage and distribution, inclusion in database or storage and retrieval systems, and dissemination through electronic or digital media, including the Internet. Authors retain their right to use their own material freely but must indicate the source of original publication and notify the Consortium of the intended use.

To protect your contribution, please, provide evidence that you have indeed assigned all rights for your contribution to the Consortium. Please complete this form and return it to the editor who notified you of the Consortium's intent of publishing your contribution.
